Author Agreement

*Scholarly*Commons@Penn is a repository of the research and scholarly output of researchers at the University of Pennsylvania. The Positive Psychology Center will deposit a copy of projects submitted for the course MAPP 702 Service Learning Project.

Authors give *Scholarly*Commons@Penn the non-exclusive, irrevocable right to copy, distribute, display, and publish their work, and to migrate it in the future as needed to keep the content available in accessible, online format. Submissions must comply with supported file types as outlined at http://repository.upenn.edu/format_support.html. Authors also allow the University of Pennsylvania to feature parts or all of this work in its publications, accompanied by proper attribution to the author.

Authors retain all copyrights, allowing them to publish, present, and/or use any or all of the material in their contributions for their own purposes. Projects appear in *Scholarly*Commons@Penn under the Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs 3.0 License (see http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/3.0/).

Contributions must be authentic and original, and proper attribution in quoting or referencing others' material must be given. Additionally, reuse of work from another source may require permission of the copyright holder. For guidance, please refer to http://gethelp.library.upenn.edu/PORT/documentation/plagiarism_policy.html and http://gethelp.library.upenn.edu/PORT/documentation/avoiding_plagiarism.html.

*Scholarly*Commons@Penn will not deposit a copy of the project without receiving this form signed by the author(s).

By signing this agreement, each author agrees to the above terms, and asserts that all original data in the project is accurate and authentic.
