Dr. William Boucher, Professor of Medicine, received the Christian and Mary Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching, in April 1981. Each year, eight teachers from the University at large are chosen for this prestigious award. Dr. Boucher, who joined the faculty in 1940, immediately after graduation, was cited as "a supertative teacher and one who has contributed immeasurably to student attainment of clinical acumen."

On June 4, 1981, New Bolton Center held its annual Retirement Dinner at the Red Rose Inn, Jenkersonville, PA. Those honored on their retirement were Dr. William Boucher, Mrs. Helen Wherry, and Mrs. Margaret Thomas.

This year the Wharton School is celebrating its centennial. The school opened in 1881 with thirteen students and one-and-a-half professors, following a $100,000 gift from Joseph Wharton, a Philadelphia financier and iron manufacturer. It was the first school of business education in the United States and today ranks as one of the outstanding schools in the world.

The following were recipients of citations at the annual meeting of the Veterinary Medical Alumni Society, on Saturday, May 16, 1981: Dr. Martin Kaplan '40, Chief Veterinarian, Public Health of One World Health Organization, cited as "the premier architect of international veterinary public health." Dr. David K. Detwiler '42, Professor of Physiology, Director, Comparative Cardiovascular Studies Unit, Chair of the Graduate Group in Comparative Medical Science, School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Pennsylvania, commended for his work as a "pioneer in the field of comparative cardiovascular studies." and Dr. Margaret L. Patrak, Staff Internist, Angel Memorial Hospital, for her "increasingly significant contributions to our knowledge of the disease of birds," as a researcher, author, and editor of scientific books and manuals. Dr. Kenneth Bovee, D.V.M., M.Ed., was honored in May 1981 with the newly-created Henry and Corinne R. Bower Chair in Medicine. In making the announcement. Dean Robert R. Marshal cited Dr. Bovee's achievements in clinical medicine, research, and administration, which have won him worldwide recognition and "literally put the discipline of nephrology on the map in veterinary medicine." Dean Marshal went on to say, "his work on canine cystinuria, metabolic and renal disorders of spontaneous Fanconi syndrome in dogs, and on the effect of nutrition on kidney function in health and disease, has had a profound influence on modern veterinary medicine." Dr. Bovee graduated from the Ohio State University in 1941 and came to Penn in 1967. He is Chairman of the Department of Clinical Studies. Mr. Henry Bower and his late wife Corinne, became interested in the Veterinary School through their lifelong love for animals and the compassionate, expert care their dogs received in the Small Animal Hospital. Mr. Bower is a distinguished alumnus of the University. In endorsing the chair, Mr. Bower described Dr. Bovee as "a scientist with a sense of humor, a combination I have found rare in my life."

Dr. William Chalupa, Section of Nutrition, New Bolton Center, was the recipient of the 1981 American Feed Manufacturers Award. Dr. Chalupa was cited for his research on ruminant nutrition where "his most notable and significant contributions have been in the areas of nitrogen utilization and in manipulating the rumen fermentation to increase the efficiency of feed utilization by the animal. In both areas he is considered a world authority." Dr. Chalupa received his B.S. (1958), M.S. (1959), and Ph.D. (1962) from Rutgers University. He joined the faculty of the School of Veterinary Medicine in 1976 and is presently Professor of Nutrition.

Effective July 1, 1981 Dean Marshall appointed Dr. Charles Reid as Acting Chairman of the Department of Clinical Studies, New Bolton Center. Dr. Reid is Professor of Radiology, School of Veterinary Medicine, and Professor of Radiological Sciences, School of Medicine. He completed his undergraduate work at the University of Vermont and received his D.V. M. (1956) and M.S. (1960) from Cornell University. In 1971, he was awarded an honorary M.A. by the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Paul F. Landis, a small animal practitioner in Norfolk, VA was chosen president of the 33,500-member American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA). He was elected by the AVMA's Executive Board during the AVMA's 18th annual meeting in St. Louis, MO. Dr. Landis will assume office in July, 1982. Dr. Landis, who served on AVMA's Executive Board from 1975-81, is a 1939 graduate of the Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine. He established his Norfolk practice in 1946.

Dr. Donald F. Patterson has been named recipient of the Ralston Purina Small Animal Research Award, for 1981. Dr. Patterson is the Charlotte Newton Sheppard Professor of Medicine, and Chief of the Medical Genetics Section. The award was given in recognition of Dr. Patterson's outstanding research in the field of congenital heart disease.
