Research Guide to Libraries and Archives in the Low Countries

Abstract
This guide, eight years in the making, owes its existence to the Council of European Studies (CBS) at Columbia University. Conceived in 1982 as part of the CBS "research resources" series for scholars planning a first research trip abroad, it complements pre-dissertation grants awarded by the Council to doctoral candidates in the humanities and social sciences. Earlier volumes in the series, Research resources: libraries and archives in Germany (1975) and Research resources: libraries and archives in France (rev. ed., 1979), both authored by Erwin K. Welsch of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, served as a model and source of inspiration. Although it resembles the earlier CBS guides, this one hopes to appeal to seasoned scholars as well as newcomers by consolidating information into a single source. In recent years the National Endowment for the Humanities has fostered a new program, "Travel to Collections," which provides travel stipends for researchers using library and archival collections abroad. For these and other scholars, the guide intends to substitute groundwork at home for legwork abroad by helping them to plan their itineraries abroad in advance. Placed on the reference shelf in European libraries, the guide may also serve foreign researchers in identifying additional collections of interest to their quests.

Introduction

This guide, eight years in the making, owes its existence to the Council of European Studies (CES) at Columbia University. Conceived in 1982 as part of the CES "research resources" series for scholars planning a first research trip abroad, it complements pre-dissertation grants awarded by the Council to doctoral candidates in the humanities and social sciences. Earlier volumes in the series, Research resources: libraries and archives in Germany (1975) and Research resources: libraries and archives in France (rev. ed., 1979), both authored by Erwin K. Welsch of the University of Wisconsin, Madison, served as a model and source of inspiration. Although it resembles the earlier CES guides, this one hopes to appeal to seasoned scholars as well as newcomers by consolidating information into a single source. In recent years the National Endowment for the Humanities has fostered a new program, "Travel to Collections," which provides travel stipends for researchers using library and archival collections abroad. For these and other scholars, the guide intends to substitute groundwork at home for legwork abroad by helping them to plan their itineraries abroad in advance. Placed on the reference shelf in European libraries, the guide may also serve foreign researchers in identifying additional collections of interest to their quests.

The guide does not attempt to cover all fields, however, deliberately excluding technical, scientific, and medical disciplines, and focusing instead on the humanities and social sciences. Nor does it attempt to cover all types of libraries and archives, omitting collections held privately, or not readily open to the public, collections belonging to business enterprises, and most collections devoted to a single author or historical figure (except when they are part of a larger library or archive).

Research guide to libraries and archives in the Low Countries is the first tool of its kind, to be written in English and aimed primarily at U.S. scholars. It draws information about indigenous research collections together with major bibliographic aids for conducting research in the humanities and social sciences about the Low Countries of Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. A variety of published and unpublished sources were used to compile the guide in addition to three site explorations abroad and continual correspondence with institutions in the Low Countries. The quest began in 1982 with an attempt to identify U.S. scholars in the field in order to learn about their experiences with collections abroad and their research needs. Names were gathered from foundations, learned societies, and agencies such as the German Marshall Fund, the Belgian American Educational Foundation, the American Council of Learned Societies, the Social Science Research Council, the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, and the Institute of International Education.

Notices were also placed in the Low Countries Newsletter, the AANS Newsletter (American Association for Netherlandic Studies), and the European Studies Newsletter (Council for European Studies). Recent Ph.Ds whose dissertations focused on the Low Countries were tracked down via alumni offices and faculty directories. In 1983 a survey was sent to all these scholars and agencies inquiring about their experiences abroad, the collections they used and the relative significance of these collections to their research. The scope of the guide was shaped, in part, on the basis of the more than 50 thoughtful replies to the survey.

The book consists of two major parts: a field guide for research in the form of an annotated bibliography and an extensive guide to 216 collections found in Benelux libraries and archives. The bibliography, while serving as an introduction to research in each of the three countries under study, also aims to augment the second part of the guide by pointing out additional sources of information. It seeks to identify reference tools which will aid scholars in carrying out their research and to acquaint them with those who share similar research interests. It is assumed that serious scholars will have a working knowledge of the indigenous languages: Dutch and French predominate. Nonetheless, an effort was made to include articles, directories, and research tools in English as well.

The first section of the bibliography lists the retrospective and current bibliographies which form the national bibliography for each of the three countries, beginning with incunabula (works printed before 1500) and ending with lists of forthcoming publications. These bibliographies represent the printed national heritage of the country and, in their current form, are based on materials deposited under copyright in the respective royal libraries. This section is arranged chronologically under each country.

The second section identifies the major national union catalogs. Citations are arranged by type of publication under each country. These catalogs serve to alert scholars to the locations of specific works. In the Netherlands, the so-called "central catalogs" are available online via "PICA" and will no longer appear in printed form. PICA, or Project for Integrated Catalogue Automation, is a national library network, established in 1968, that also serves as a shared cataloging system. In addition, PICA carries a number of other important bibliographic databases, such as the Short-title catalogue, Netherlands; the Bibliografie van de Nederlandse taal- en literatuurwetenschap; the manuscript letter project, the so-called "Catalogus Epistularum Neerlandicarum"; and the grey literature database, GLIN ("Grijze Literatuur in Nederland").

In Belgium, a pilot project is underway to create an online union catalog that represents the holdings of the Royal Library and major university collections. There is also discussion about a Flemish Central Catalog. Luxembourg has no national union catalog equivalent, although its foreign periodical holdings are represented in some Belgian union lists.

The third section lists the major national biographical dictionaries. References are arranged by chronological period under each country. These dictionaries provide biographical information about contemporary and historic figures who are important to each of the country's national development.

The fourth section describes other directories and guides to collections of libraries, archives, and museums. A number of these are worthy of special mention. Colin Steele's Major libraries of the world served not only as model library guide, but also was used for the specific annotations of Benelux libraries which are covered in this guide. All of the Benelux libraries included in Steele's work are also covered in this guide. H.P. Hogeweg-de Haart's Bibliotheeken met belangrijke collecties maatschappijwetenschappen was an important tool in selecting Dutch social science libraries for inclusion. The reference annual, World of learning, was consulted systematically and remains the most reliable and accessible source for current directory information about libraries, archives, and museums abroad. At the national level, the comprehensive directories published by the "Nederlands Bibliotheek- en Lektuur Centrum" (NBLC) in The Hague are the most useful and current sources for specifics about collections of all types in the Netherlands and Flanders. I refer to the Nederlandse bibliotheek- en documentatiegids, published triennially since 1984, and the Vlaamse bibliotheek- en documentatiegids, published for the first time in 1990. Regrettably, there is not a Francophone counterpart for Belgium at the present time. One must continue to rely on Janine Verougstraete’s Inventaire des centres belges de recherche... (1982/83) until a new edition appears. Among international archival resources, two recent issues of Archivum are especially valuable. These include an "International directory of archives" (volume 33, 1988) and an "International bibliography of directories and guides to archival repositories" (volume 36, 1990). At the national level, archive guides for the Belgium are quite dated, with the 1974-75 publication, Het Rijksarchief in de provinciën, remaining the most current. In the Netherlands the splendid and comprehensive series, "Overzichten van de archieven en verzamelingen in de openbare archiefbewaarplaatsen in Nederland," should be consulted by any scholar interested in pursuing archival research in the Netherlands.

The fifth, and most extensive, section of the bibliography contains subject guides and bibliographies. A selection of the most significant bibliographic tools is provided, emphasizing those works of lasting historical value alongside those which are regularly updated with new editions. In making the selection, I have concentrated on several types of resources. First of all, subject-specific directories to libraries, archives, or museums are identified, for example: B.
Hijma's Gids van Afrika-collecties..., (African Studies); Annemieke van Slobbe's Gids voor topografisch-historische atlassen in Nederland, (Maps and Cartography); and Marie-Christine Claes' Répertoire des bibliothèques et centres de documentation en science religieuses de Wallonie, de Bruxelles et du Grand-Duché de Luxembourg (Theology). Secondly, articles or handbooks that describe the sources for carrying out research in libraries or archives are identified. There are numerous examples of this type in the area studies section, particularly those in the "Guide to the sources for the history of the nations" series. Third, research guides for specific disciplinary areas are identified. These include two major tools for the humanities and social sciences: A.M.J. van Buuren's Vermakelijk bibliografisch ganzenbord: een eerste handleiding bij systematisch-bibliografisch onderzoek op het gebied van de Nederlandse letterkunde and Harrie C.M. Vorst's Gids voor literatuuronderzoek in de sociale wetenschappen. In addition, other discipline-specific resource guides are noted, like Dik de Heer's Politiecolige literatuurgids and B. Wessels' Juridische vaardigheden. Fourth, selected, continuing bibliographies are listed, typically when they have strong coverage of or are produced in the Low Countries. Among the former are such well-established bibliographies as the Modern Language Association's MLA international bibliography (covering Dutch language and Netherlandic literature), the Modern Humanities Research Association's The year's work in modern language studies (covering Dutch Studies: language and literature), and the American Historical Association's Recently published articles (covering the Low Countries). Examples of especially strong subject bibliographies produced in the Benelux countries include: "Bibliographie de l'histoire de Belgique (History), the Bibliografie Nederlandse sociologie (Sociology), the Repertorium van boeken en tijdschriften betreffende de geschiedenis van Nederland...
(History), and the Bibliografie van de Nederlandse taal- en literatuurwetenschap... (Language and Literature). Finally, directories of scholars and/or current research projects are identified. Examples are most prevalent in the social sciences: Current research in the social sciences, "Directory of Economists," and "Directory of European political scientists."
This section is arranged by subject with subheadings for international,
European, Belgian, Dutch, and Luxembourg sources.

A list of works particularly helpful in compiling this bibliography appears at the end of the introduction. Researchers are advised to consult these publications for additional information that extends beyond the scope of this guide. With few exceptions, I have examined all of the materials included in the bibliography—travelling far and wide via the good services of the University of Minnesota and Yale University's interlibrary loan offices. In order to assist readers in tracking down the works cited, I have provided the "International Standard Book Number" (ISBN) or the "International Standard Serial Number" (ISSN), whenever possible. Part I has an author and title index with references to relevant page numbers which appears at the end of the volume. Personal names are filed under the root word with the particle (i.e. de, den, van, van der) inverted after the first name or initial. Also the Dutch "ij" is filed in alphabetical letter sequence after "i." The author and title index uses italics to identify books or periodicals and quotation marks to distinguish articles or series. There is a single subject index to Part I and II of the guide.

The second part of the guide is devoted to describing library and archival collections in Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg. Under each country, the institutions are listed in alphabetical order by the English name of the city. The entries are numbered in consecutive order beginning with Belgium, continuing with the Netherlands, and ending with Luxembourg. These numbers are used as an internal reference system to other collections. The descriptions vary in length, a reflection of the amount of information available about each of them, as well as their relative importance. There are 82 entries for Belgium spanning 22 towns. The title of the institution is given in the vernacular, using Dutch names for locations in Flanders, and French for those in Wallonia. In the bilingual capital, Brussels, both French and Dutch names are provided wherever possible. The 123 entries for the Netherlands are arranged by the English name of the city; 33 towns are covered. Luxembourg is arranged in a similar fashion with 11 entries in three cities.

Each country includes descriptions of the royal library, university libraries, ministerial and governmental agency libraries, public libraries with research collections, national archives, archives in the provinces and important municipalities, major museum and art libraries, theological and religious collections which are open to the public, and social science research collections. The entries are filed under the name of the institution in the vernacular, followed by its English translation. The title of the parent institution as well as that of the library or archive is provided when needed for clarity or attribution. Basic directory information is provided: street (visitor’s) address, telephone number, and FAX (facsimile transmission) number. Because changes in personnel occur with regularity, the names of directors are omitted. Many of these names can be found, however, in the World of learning which is revised annually.

The headings in Part II appear in boldface print and refer to the categories of information described below. The SIZE OF COLLECTION is indicated in terms of the number of volumes of books and periodicals. Annual growth rate is noted, when available. The extent of the archives is usually given in linear meters. The DESCRIPTION OF COLLECTION furnishes a historical overview of the origins and development of the library or archive, as well as a discussion of its subject strengths and national or international significance.

DECENTRALIZED AND SPECIAL COLLECTIONS describes collections housed in the main facility in addition to those affiliated with, but housed apart from, the central library. Numerous university institute and departmental collections fall into this category. Under the rubric CLASSIFICATION AND CATALOGS, the classification system and primary catalogs—in all forms (card, print, microform, and online) are described. Most typically, the libraries rely on "UDC," Universal Decimal Classification, or their own classification scheme to organize their collections. The status of catalogs is changing rapidly as more and more collections are automated and "OPAC" or online public access catalogs are implemented. The traditional card catalogs are most frequently designated as: alphabetical (i.e. main entry), author, title, subject, keyword, or systematic. Systematic catalogs, which are commonplace through the Benelux countries, are organized according to a classified subject scheme. Generally a subject index in printed form is located with the card catalog to assist researchers in identifying the appropriate subject terms. In the case of archives, inventories are discussed in this section.

The category devoted to USE OF COLLECTION spells out user access requirements, such as hours and days of operation, in addition to registration and cloakroom regulations. Most of the collections contained in the guide are open to the adult public (over the age of 18) without advance written permission. However, any prudent, foreign researcher is well-advised to write in advance since hours and user regulations vary. Writing in advance is not only a courtesy, but it can also save precious time by ensuring that the materials needed for consultation are available. When special collections, rare or unique materials are sought, it is imperative to seek advance permission in most cases. Benelux libraries and archives are open typically on fewer days and for fewer hours than their U.S. counterparts. Reduced hours, or annual closings, are widespread during the summer months of June through August. American scholars who plan to utilize Benelux collections during the summer should be wary of this practice, write in advance, and plan their trips accordingly. They may be further frustrated by the traditional practice of lunch hour closings (sometimes extending for two hours) and the lack of evening and weekend hours. Many of the collections described in this guide operate on a 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. basis, particularly during the summer. Public and religious holidays are observed with closings. Foreign researchers are most frequently required to present their passports and register their names and addresses upon entering the library or archive. Many of the institutions do not permit coats or briefcases into the library, and they must be stashed in a coat room which may or may not have lockers or security guards. Researchers are advised, therefore, to bring the minimum paraphernalia and to have change on hand in case there are coin-operated lockers. The paragraph on "use of collection" also provides information about reading rooms, the location of specific collections in the facility, or even, in certain cases, the number of seats available for users. When possible, the percentage of the collection in "open access" (those volumes available to the public on the shelves) is indicated. However, closed stacks and paging items from the stacks—involving waiting periods of 15 minutes or more—prevail.

Among the SERVICES noted are photocopying facilities and microform readers and printers (all of which are now commonplace). Online search services are also prevalent in university and public libraries, as well as some research institutes. Restaurants—or more typically canteens—and bookshops are mentioned under the rubric of "services." The NOTES category carries the mailing address of institutions when it varies from the street or visitor's address. It also highlights other libraries or archives which are affiliated with the institution, particularly when they cooperate in joint projects or networks.

The two final categories, PUBLICATIONS and FOR FURTHER READING are bibliographies of significant publications and/or serials of the library or archive and articles or books about it. If the collection prepares a "user's guide," it is generally noted in the "publications" category. When the institution's publications are too extensive to list, the reader is referred to its publications' catalog or other access points. With few exceptions, the citations in these bibliographies are not repeated in the introductory bibliography, therefore, readers are encouraged to refer to Part I for additional information.

Each entry was prepared from published and unpublished sources including correspondence with the local institution. I made visits to more than 60 of the sites in May 1984 (the Netherlands) and 1985 (Luxembourg and Belgium). Subsequently all entries were returned to the local institution for verification and correction, with the majority of hosts replying. A final site visit to the Netherlands and Belgium was made in March 1990 to bring information up to date.

The guide closes with an author and title index to Part I, followed by an institutional index to Part II and a subject index to Part I and II combined. The name of the parent institution and library or archive are filed in alphabetical order in English, French, and Dutch (as appropriate), in the institutional index. The institutional main heading appears in capital letters, with English translations in lower case. Additional institutions, those which are not the main focus of an entry, appear in the subject index as well. Locators in this index point to the entry number, not the page number. The subject index pertains to the entire guide and includes the names of special collections, affiliated institutions, people (who are the subject of important collections), and topics. All university-level libraries are indexed in the subject index under "University library," followed by their primary identification, usually place (e.g. Amsterdam, Leuven, etc.). Similarly, museum libraries are grouped under the subject heading, "Museums," followed by type, for example: fine arts, historical, or literary. Since virtually all university libraries, and many archival collections as well, have incunabula, manuscripts, and maps, these subject headings are used primarily to refer the reader to bibliographic sources in Part I. Locators in the subject index are to the appropriate page number.

Inevitably, this guide contains oversights and inaccuracies. I appreciate readers bringing these shortcomings to my attention.
8 Introduction

Endnotes
1. The series also includes volumes on Italy (currently under revision) and the European Communities.

2. Benelux is used interchangeably with the term Low Countries to designate the three countries: Belgium, the Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

3. The term, Dutch, is used to designate the official written language in the Netherlands and the northern provinces of Belgium.

4. The appendix contains a list of the place names of provinces and towns in their English, French and/or Dutch equivalents.

5. A list of public and religious holidays appears in the appendix.

Belgium

The first printed book in Belgium was issued in 1473 from Aalst, in Flanders. For historical reasons, Belgium's retrospective national bibliographies are usually the same as those of the Netherlands—particularly for the Dutch language. Some French retrospective national bibliographies must be consulted as well.

Present-day Belgium gained independence in 1830. The current Belgian national bibliography dates from 1875. Legal deposit with the Royal Library of Belgium was made compulsory on January 1, 1966.

Incunabula (To 1500)

Lists incunabula in Belgian libraries, including private collections. There are some 4,100 entries which consist of author/title, collation, description, and location of works. Indexes include: facsimiles, concordances with other important bibliographies, printers, engravers, and a general alphabetical subject index. The announced list of libraries was never published. An augmented supplement appeared in 1978.

Identifies additional and corrections to the first edition and then lists new descriptions. Concordances with other incunabula bibliographies and catalogs.
12 Field Guide For Research In The Low Countries

1470-1600

* Bibliotheca belgica: bibliographie générale des Pays Bas.* 7 vols.
   Established by Ferdinand van der Haegen and re-edited under the direction of Marie Thérèse Lenger. Brussels: Cultures et Civilisation, 1964-1975.
   A general retrospective bibliography of early printed books from the Netherlands and Belgium covering the period from 1470 to 1600. Identifies works printed in Belgium or the Netherlands and those by Belgian and Dutch authors printed abroad. The works are arranged in alphabetical order by printer's name, then by place and title. Provides extensive title descriptions with biographical and bibliographical annotations, and including facsimiles of trademarks and typefaces of Belgian and Dutch printers. There are alphabetical (author/editor), printer, and chronological indexes. Originally published: 1880-1967. Reprinted in 1979.

   Although limited to the holdings of the British Library, this short-title catalog may serve as a substitute retrospective "national" bibliography for Dutch and Flemish early printed books (1470-1600). It contains monographs published in the Netherlands and Belgium or printed in Dutch or Flemish. Classified alphabetically by author, corporate entry or title of anonymous work, with an index of publishers and printers (arranged chronologically by edition with reference to the main entry).

   Bruxellis: per Petrum Foppens, 1739.
   Bibliography of monographs written in Latin and illustrated with portraits. Constitutes the 4th augmented edition of the work by André Valère, with the same title, published in 1623. Arranged alphabetically by Latin name with a list of authors; index by place of publication and religious order sponsoring the work.

1540-1600

Cockx-Indestege, Elly, and Geneviève Glorieux. Belgica typographica 1541-1600: catalogus librorum impressorum ab anno MDXLI ad annum MDC in regionibus quae nunc Regni Belgiarum partes sunt. 3 vols. (incomplete) Nieuwkoop: B. De Graaf, 1968-. Short-title catalog of works printed between 1541 and 1600 within the borders of present-day Belgium. Volume one identifies some 5,000 titles in the Royal Library in Brussels: Bibliotheca Regia Bruxellensis (1968), 611 p. Entries include author, title, imprint, collation, supplementary notes, collaborators, and call numbers with six indexes. Volume two, published from 1977-1980, covers another 2,500 titles from the collections of 40 other Belgian libraries (495 p.) and is indexed by name and place. A third volume is anticipated that would list holdings of additional libraries.

1600-1799
Serves as a national bio-bibliography for the Low Countries for the period 1600-1799.

1830-1929
Contains an exhaustive bibliography of Belgian authors (citizens or residents) who have published in Belgium or abroad with a list of earlier works by the same authors and periodical titles in which they published regularly. Also gives a brief history and appraisal of bibliographies which contained works of Belgian authors prior to Belgium’s independence. Includes all types of materials: books, pamphlets, official publications, and periodical and newspaper articles. For works published in Flanders between 1830 and 1890 see De Potter.

A retrospective Flemish bio-bibliography for the period from 1830 to 1890, covering some 25,000 titles. Works are arranged in classified order within 16 categories, with an author index. This work is continued by: Verschueren.

Beginning in 1926 works from Flanders also appear in Brinkman (see below).

1875-present
Bibliographie de Belgique. List mensuelle des publications belges. Belgische bibliografie. Maandelijkse lijst van Belgische werken. Brussels: Bibliotheque Royale Albert Ier, 1875-. ISSN 0006-1336
The official current national bibliography of Belgium, prepared by the Royal Library in Brussels where legal deposit was established in 1965. It lists all works published in Belgium (in all languages), works by Belgian authors that are published abroad and foreign publications about Belgium. The bibliography has been computer-produced since 1974/75 and each monthly issue has author, title and subject indexes. Entries are organized into 32 categories, following a UNESCO classification system. Each citation includes price, ISBN, and its call number in the Royal Library. The monthly issues are cumulated annually. Parallel French/Dutch titles have appeared since 1931.

Since 1982 the Bibliographie de Belgique has published three annual supplements:

1. Supplément 1: Périodiques nouveaux et séries nouvelles:
   Bibliographie.../Nieuwe tijdschriften en reeksen...
2. Supplément 2: Cartes et atlases: Bibliographie...
3. Supplément 3: Musique

Forthcoming publications
Since 1984, the Royal Library has also issued a CIP (cataloging in publication) bulletin every two weeks: Publications annoncées - Aangekondigde publikaties. Once published these titles appear in the Bibliographie de Belgique.

Netherlands
Printing in the Netherlands dates from 1473 in Utrecht.

The Netherlands became an independent kingdom in 1815. The current national bibliography dates from 1846. It lists books and periodicals published in the Netherlands as well as Dutch-language materials published in Belgium. Legal deposit has never been established officially, but has operated since 1974 as a provisional agreement between the Royal Library in The Hague and Dutch publishers.

Incunabula (To 1500)
Reprinted in 1962. The first national bibliography of incunabula covering the Netherlands and Belgium. Some 1,950 titles arranged in alphabetical order with indexes of printers and their works. It is supplemented and corrected by: Kronenberg.

A national catalog of all Dutch public collections of incunabula. Identifies 4,759 incunabula editions in 7,940 copies preserved in 85 libraries, archives, and museums in the Netherlands. Provides short descriptions including author, title, imprint and bibliographic format. Also lists holdings’ locations and identifications from other catalogs and bibliographies of incunabula. The volume of indexes provides access by place printed, printers and publishers, and a general index (variant author’s names and anonymous titles). According to the introduction, 1197 of the 2100 editions described in Campbell’s Annales and its supplements are represented in the Netherlands. The Royal Library in The Hague holds the vast majority, namely 893.

1500-1540

Nijhoff, Wouter, and M.E. Kronenberg. Nederlandsche bibliographie van 1500 tot 1540.... 3 parts in 8 vols. The Hague: M. Nijhoff, 1923-1971. Aims to achieve a complete bibliography of Dutch (including Flanders) post-incunabula (1500-1540). Lists 4,500 works arranged alphabetically by author’s name or anonymous title. Contains complete bibliographic descriptions; bibliographic references; location of copies; author index; printer index; index by location of work; and systematic index. For Belgium continued by Cockx-Indestege and Glorieux (see Belgium). For the Netherlands continued by The short-title catalogue, Netherlands (see below).

The short-title catalogue, Netherlands 1541-1800. The Hague: Royal Library. The short-title catalogue..., known as the STCN, is a 30-year project to compile an automated national bibliography of Dutch books published from 1540 to 1800 within the borders of present-day Netherlands or published in the Dutch language abroad (except those published in Belgium). It fills the gap between bibliographies that cover Dutch incunabula and post-incunabula (up to 1540) and Brinkman’s cumulatieve catalogus van boeken that covers Dutch books after 1832. Books published during the three decades spanning from 1800 to 1832 have recently been made accessible by Brinkman’s Catalogue of 1801-1832. (For further information refer to: Saalmink, L.G. "Bibliografische ontsluiting van Nederlandse publikaties 1801-1832." Open 2 (1985): 68.

The core catalog contains circa 27,000 descriptions, comprising all relevant 1540-1700 holdings of the Royal Library in The Hague. The 1540-1700 collections of other major Dutch research libraries are being added, beginning with the University of Amsterdam and Leiden University. Subsequently, a core catalog of 18th century holdings from the Royal Library will be completed, followed again by Amsterdam’s and Leiden’s collections. The entire project will total some 300,000 titles and is estimated to take some thirty years to complete. Annual growth rate: 6,000 titles.

As of October 1988, the STCN became available online via the PICA network (see entry about the Nederlandse Centrale Catalogus... for an explanation of PICA). A description of the STCN is provided by: Gruys, J.A., P.C.A. Vriesema, and C. de Wolf, "Dutch national bibliography 1540-1800: the STCN," Quaerendo 13 (1983): 149-160.

1600-1787

First edition dates from 1743; reprinted by Sijthoff in Leiden in 1965. A selective bibliography covering the period from 1600 to 1761 with supplements through 1787 by R. Arrenberg. Arranged alphabetically by author or anonymous titles; provides supplementary information such as the name of the collector, format, and price. Without indexes. Continued by: de Jong.

1790-1832

Jong, Johannes de. Alphabetische naamlijst van boeken, welke sedert het jaar 1790 tot en met het jaar 1832 in Noord-Nederland zijn uitgekomen, met aanduiding van het getal deelen, de platen en kaarten, het format, het jaar der uitgave, den naam des eigenaars, en de prijzen... The Hague: Van Cleef, 1835.

Reprinted by Sijthoff in Leiden in 1965. Arranged alphabetically by author or anonymous title, covering the years from 1790 to 1832. Supplemented for part of the same period by the Naamlijst van Nederduitsche boeken,... (see below). Continued by: Brinkman.

1790-1848

Naamlijst van Nederduitsche boeken, alsmede van Fransche en Latijnsche werken, oratiëen, dissertatiëen, konstprenten, pourtraitten, landkaarten enz. gedurrende de jaaren... in ons land uitgekomen. 1790-1848. 12 vols.
Amsteldam: Saakes, 1794-(1849).
Includes Dutch books, as well as French and Latin works, orations, dissertations, prints, portraits, maps, etc. produced in the Netherlands between 1790 and 1848.

1833-1849

Brinkman, Carel Leonhard. Alphabetische naamlijst van boeken, plaat- en kaartwerken die gedurende de jaren 1833 tot en met 1849 in Nederland uitgegeven of herdrukt zijn, benevens opgave van den naam des uitgevers of eigenaars, het jaar van uitgave, het getal deelen.... Amsterdam: Brinkman, 1858-1878.
Constitutes a continuation of de Jong’s work except that it aims to be an exhaustive bibliography. Volume one covers 1833 to 1849; Volumes 2 and 3 covering the periods 1850-62 and 1863-75 were published but were subsequently corrected and augmented and formed the beginning of Brinkman’s catalog (see below).

Current national bibliography

Brinkman’s cumulatieve catalogus van boeken: Nederlandse bibliografie bevattende in Nederland en Vlaanderen uitgegeven of herdrukte boeken die werden ontvangen door het depot van Nederlandse publikaties van de Koninklijke Bibliotheek. Leiden: Sijthoff, 1846- . ISSN 0007-0165
Published under the above title since 1976 on the basis of a voluntary legal deposit system at the Royal Library. Appears on a monthly with annual cumulations. Consists of two categories of publications: books and periodicals (first issue only) published in the Netherlands and Flanders, and books published abroad in Dutch or translated from Dutch. Does not contain maps, audio-visual material or microformats. Currently arranged in alphabetical main entry order with a subject index.

The bibliography has been computer-produced since 1970 and its entries form the major part of the descriptions contained in the automated national union catalog available via the PICA network. The bibliography also forms the basis of: Brinkman’s catalogus van boeken en tijdschriften... (see below).

Brinkman’s catalogus van boeken en tijdschriften: verschenen in Nederland en Vlaanderen en in de Nederlandse taal elders. Alphen aan den Rijn: Sijthoff, 1884- . ISSN 0165-2613
A retrospective national bibliography that began with correcting and supplementing volumes two and three of Brinkman's Alphabetische naamlijst... for the period 1850-1882. From then until 1911 three volumes appeared that cover ten years; afterwards published every five years. In 1982 the cumulation for 1976-1980 appeared in four volumes. Since 1982 the bibliography has been entered into the automated national union catalog system available via the PICA network.

Boekblad continues the Nieuwsblad voor de boekhandel, which first appeared in 1834. It includes news articles about publishing, including notices of award-winning authors. Moreover it issues the weekly bibliography, "Nederlandse bibliografie: A-lijst," which announces new books and the first issue of journals from the Netherlands and Flanders. The list is subdivided into 35 subject categories with author and titles indexes. After titles appear in the "A-lijst" Dutch publications are submitted to Brinkman's cumulatieve catalogus van boeken... and publications from Flanders are submitted to the Bibliographie de Belgique. Dutch maps appear subsequently in the Bibliografie van in Nederland verschenen kaarten (see entry under Maps and Cartography--Netherlands), issued annually by the Royal Library in The Hague. Three times a year Boekblad features forthcoming publications.

Nederlandse bibliografie: B-lijst bevattende de titels van in Nederland uitgegeven publikaties van bestuursliammen, wetenschappelijke instellingen en daarmee gelijk te stellen organisaties; in eigen beheer uitgegeven proefschriften en andere academische geschreven ontvangen door het depot van Nederlandse Publikaties van de Koninklijke Bibliotheek te ’s-Gravenhage. Alphen aan den Rijn: Samsom, 1984-. ISSN 0168-7964

A counterpart to the "A-lijst" (see above) only covering "grey literature," such as reports, government documents, pamphlets, academic institute papers, and so forth. Entries organized in 35 subject categories with author and title indexes. Appears monthly. Also available in online version via PICA as GLIN ("Grijze Literatuur in Nederland"). As of 1987, the Netherlands no longer issues a separate national bibliography of government publications. Instead official documents appear in the "B-lijst" and subsequently in Brinkman's cumulatieve catalogus van boeken... (see above).

Forthcoming publications

Uitgaven in voorbereiding (CIP)/Koninklijke Bibliotheek. ’s-Gravenhage: Koninklijke Bibliotheek, 1980-. ISSN 0920-1017

A bibliography of forthcoming publications with CIP (Cataloguing In Publication).
Current awareness bulletin

Bibliografische attenderingslijst voor docenten Neerlandistiek in het buitenland, 's-Gravenhage: Stichting Bibliographia Neerlandica, vol. 1-, 1986-. ISSN 0920-2862

A selective annotated bibliography of recently published works in the humanities and social sciences. Intended for instructors of Dutch studies abroad; entries with comments.

Luxembourg

The first printed books in Luxembourg appeared in 1578. The retrospective national bibliography is fragmentary and must be supplemented with German, Belgian, and French bibliographies according to the historical period and language of publication.

Luxembourg gained independence in 1839 and became a neutral state in 1867. The current national bibliography dates from 1944/45. Legal deposit was established in 1960 and requires the publisher or printer of every work to deposit two copies (one copy of periodicals) at the National Library.

Incunabula (To 1500)

Catalog of incunabula in the National Library of Luxembourg.

1500-1900

The work was never completed and comprises authors from A to Siegen for the period 1500 to 1900. Does not cover anonymous works and series titles appear only under the editor’s name. Entries include biographical sketches, pseudonyms, and annotations of content. A new edition completed with an introduction and an analytical index was prepared by Carlo Hurry and published by Kraus International Publications in 1981.

Alphabetical arrangement by author’s name with list of monographs, periodical articles and manuscripts. Biographical dates provided for each author.
Annotated citations include location of work.

1577-1797
A bio-bibliography of Luxembourg printers and their work for the period 1577 to 1797 arranged chronologically. Provides a list of their imprints with detailed annotations and indication of locations in Luxembourg libraries. Also gives a list of works which are erroneously attributed to Luxembourg printers. Author-title and subject indexes.

1846-1975
A bibliography of bibliographies of Luxemburgensia (by and about Luxembourg) for the period 1846 to circa 1975.

Current national bibliography
Published annually since 1944/45 without cumulative editions. Includes publications published or printed in Luxembourg, written by citizens of Luxembourg or about Luxembourg, which the National Library has acquired either through legal deposit or purchase. It is indexed by author (including titles of anonymous works) and two subject indexes (general and subjects focusing on Luxembourg). At the end, includes a list of publishers and printers in Luxembourg. Covers monographs (including new editions), serials (new titles and ceased titles), government publications, articles, printed music, recorded music, film, works published abroad (by Luxembourg authors or of interest to Luxembourg).

The development of a Flemish Central Catalog is discussed in this article. See also the Katholieke Universiteit Leuven (064) for information about the CCI’, Collective Catalogus op Titel. For additional information about other projects contact the Royal Library (see entry 033) where a pilot project is underway to link the catalogs of selected university libraries with the Royal Library.

Periodicals

Lists current periodicals available in Belgian university, scientific, and special libraries. Earlier editions covered periodicals from Antwerp libraries only.

The original edition covers some 46,000 foreign journals that are available in 400 libraries in Belgium and Luxembourg. Indexed by institution, society, city, and country.
Netherlands

Books, periodicals, and conference proceedings

Nederlandse Centrale Catalogus van boeken, periodieken en congressen.

The NCC is available online via PICA. The NCC replaces the printed union catalogs listed below. Periodically a list of libraries represented in the NCC is issued under the title, "Lijst van aangesloten bibliotheken."

PICA, Project for Integrated Catalogue Automation, is a nationwide library network, established in 1965, that also serves as a shared cataloging system. The PICA operation moved from the Royal Library in The Hague to Leiden in the late 1980s. In addition to serving as the major online union catalog for research and university libraries in the Netherlands (in the humanities and social sciences), the PICA network also carries a number of other bibliographic databases.

Newspapers

 Constitutes the national union catalog of general interest newspapers in the Netherlands.

Periodicals and Serials

The third and last (printed) edition of the Dutch union catalog of periodicals and serials constitutes 200,000 titles. All these titles are included in the NCC (see above) available online via PICA.

Agricultural materials

The Landsbouwuniversiteit Wageningen (see entry 200) and the Ministerie van Landbouw, Natuurbeheer en Visserij (see entry 144) are responsible for the national agricultural bibliographic network in the Netherlands, "AGRALIN."

Educational materials

The Instituut voor Onderzoek van het Onderwijs (SVO--seen entry 133) maintains the Centrale Catalogus Onderwijskundige Tijdschriften.... See also the Ministerie van Onderwijs en Wetenschappen (203) for information about "DION," the online documentation system for education literature in the Netherlands.

Judicial materials

For information about the central catalog of foreign legal periodicals refer to the Law section of this bibliography.
Maps
The national union catalog of maps, Centrale Catalogus Kartografie, maintained by the Royal Library in The Hague, will become available online in 1991. See also the section on "Maps and Cartography" about the Bibliografie van in Nederland verschenen kaarten.

Technical materials
The national union catalog of technical materials, Central Technical Catalog, is maintained by the Technische Universiteit Delft (see entry 115).

Catalogue collectif belge et luxembourgeois des périodiques étrangers en cours de publication. Belgische en Luxemburgse centrale catalogus van lopende buitenlandse tijdschriften.
See above under Belgium.
National Biographical Dictionaries

Belgium

The official national biographical dictionary of Belgium which has extensive signed articles. The original volumes cover people who deceased before 1850. The supplements, volumes 29-44, include people from the second half of the 19th century and from the 20th century. The work is now complete.

Along with Wie is wie in Vlaanderen covers all of Belgium. Intended to appear every five years. First edition covers 10,000 people who are still living and are important to francophone Belgium in 1980. Information is based on (unverified) data provided by the individuals themselves.

Netherlands

Egmond, Frans van. Wie is wie in Nederland. 1st ed. (1984/88)- 's-Gravenhage: Pragma Nederland, 1984-. ISSN 0920-539X A biographical dictionary of people who are alive, with information based on (unverified) data provided by the individuals themselves. The first edition has 14,000 short biographies.

Luxembourg

Each volume is composed of two fascicles with some six to nine lengthy biographical articles each, including bibliographies and illustrations. Fascicule 1 appeared in a revised and corrected edition in 1957. The last fascicule indexes the names of the main people covered in all eleven volumes and indicates their dates of birth and death.
Directories and Guides to Collections

Libraries

International Sources

An international directory, arranged by continent, then by country, type of library and place. Covers some 37,000 libraries in 160 countries. It includes national libraries, university libraries, and public libraries with more than 30,000 volumes and special libraries with more than 5,000 volumes. For each library, the guide provides year founded, collection strengths, and size of collection, in addition to standard directory information. Appears irregularly, in English and German. Continues Internationales Bibliothek-Handbuch.

An international directory that complements the World guide to libraries (above). Covers 32,000 special libraries in 160 countries. Arranged in five broad subject categories and then by country and city. Includes subject index of about 300 terms.

An important international bibliography of publications about librarianship including works on national libraries; official agencies in the field of bibliography, documentation, and librarianship; professional organizations; reference sources (dictionaries, encyclopedias, directories, guides); bibliographical services; library periodicals; statistical sources; legislation, including copyright, censorship, lending rights and standards; and further readings about all types of libraries, documentation, and automation. There is a section on Europe, in addition to those on Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands.

A standard reference work that describes some 300 major libraries worldwide. Fills a void between directories which are comprehensive but provide brief information and more in-depth, but selective, guides. Includes seven entries for Belgium, one for Luxembourg, and six for the Netherlands. All Benelux entries from Steele are included in this guide.

An international guide arranged in alphabetical order by the French name of each country. The following information is provided: (a) national bibliography (only the main bibliographies are reported); (b) union catalogs, printed; (c) union catalogs, not printed (indicates year founded, number of titles, categories of material included); (d) international loans (specifies interlending centers, principal libraries with legal deposit, principal special collections). The manual is revised periodically.

Reference annual covering over 26,000 universities, colleges, schools of art and music, libraries, archives, learned societies, research institutes, museums, and galleries—arranged alphabetically by country. Also lists over 400 international organizations and names of more than 150,000 professors, university chancellors and vice-chancellors, deans, presidents, librarians, curators, and other officials. Because of its currency, broad coverage, and accessibility, this is the best entry point for an overview of the country’s scholarly infrastructure and for basic information about important libraries and archives. Each annotation includes name of institution, address, date founded, subject strengths, number of volumes, and name of director. First edition published in 1947.

European Sources

Provides brief annotations about special collections in 2,500 European libraries. Entries are arranged in order by Dewey Decimal Classification number and then by country. A standard reference work, although now dated. Has subject index.
Belgium

To keep current about Belgian libraries and archives, including their services and publications, refer to the journal, Archives et bibliothèques de Belgique. Archief- en bibliotheekwezen in België (vol. 1- , 1923- ), currently issued by the Royal Library in Brussels. See also the catalog of available publications from national scientific institutions in Belgium: Les établissements scientifiques nationaux....

Use Verougstraete and/or Vlaamse bibliotheek- en documentatie gids (see below) in preference to this out-dated source.

A historical overview of research and public libraries in Belgium, including the Royal Library and university libraries.

A catalog of the publications in print from eleven national scientific institutions in Belgium, including the General State Archives, the Royal Library, the Royal Museum of Central Africa, the Royal Museum of Art and History, the Royal Museums of Fine Arts in Belgium, Royal Institute of Artistic Patrimony (see those entries in this guide). Indexed.

Lists, by subject, the main continuing bibliographies and indexes for a wide variety of fields, with a separate UDC (Universal Decimal Classification) listing that serves as a union catalog for Belgian libraries. The Belgian libraries cited in the UDC section then appear in a separate directory at the end of the guide. Although the first two sections of this guide are cumbersome to use, the directory of Belgian libraries is succinct.

Special issue devoted to Belgium prior to the IFLA (International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions) annual conference held in Belgium in 1977. Includes articles on topics such as the Royal Library, ecclesiastical libraries, scholarly libraries, public libraries, special libraries, the Belgian national bibliography, and legal deposit of materials.

A succinct and still useful introduction to important bibliographic sources for archival and library research, as well as to the archives and libraries themselves.

A guide to some 1,000 libraries and documentation centers located in Dutch-speaking Belgium. Co-published by NBLC, the guide follows the same format as its well-established Dutch counterpart: Nederlands bibliotheek- en documentatiegids (see below).

Netherlands

To keep current about developments in Dutch libraries refer to the journal: Open, Groningen, 1969-. ISSN 0030-3372.

Intended as an introduction for non-Dutch researchers, this booklet provides the most current (albeit it awkward) English-language overview of Dutch libraries. It describes national policies, professional organizations, consortia for librarianship and documentation, as well as specific libraries (national, research, special, public) and documentation centers. Online searching, library automation, and library and information science education are covered too. The publication closes with a selective list of addresses of national organizations and libraries.

A useful introduction for researchers to bibliographic sources about libraries archives in the Netherlands as well as to the collections themselves. In a succinct format, Dunthorne comments on state and municipal archives, the Royal Library, four university libraries, and numerous special archives and libraries.

Produced by the Netherlands Organisation for International Cooperation in Higher Education, this guide describes 215 library and documentation centers in the Netherlands that have materials pertaining to Third World countries or development issues. Organized in alphabetical order by city, then name of library. Each entry contains general directory information, information about services, systems of storage and retrieval, the nature of the Third World collection, and specialties. Indexes by name of institution are in English and Dutch. Subject, theme, and geographic indexes.

A history of libraries and documentation centers in the Netherlands covering the years from 1962 to 1987, published on the 25th anniversary of the Nederlandse Vereniging van Bibliothecarissen, Documentalisten en Literatuuronderzoekers.

An annual report on public libraries that includes statistics and an address list.

Describes the organizational structure of the profession and educational training for librarianship. Discusses libraries of major universities, technical institutes, provinces and municipalities, churches, and learned societies and scientific institutes. Special libraries, public libraries, information services, and documentation services are covered. There is a separate entry in the Encyclopedia for the Royal Library under "Koninklijke Bibliotheek" (volume 13, pages 450-455).

Directories And Guides To Collections

provides information about national library associations, documentation services, online networks, and coordinating agencies. Indexed by name of institution, name of personnel, and subject. Preface and directions for use in English.

A popular history of Dutch public libraries with illustrations.

A guide to 256 audio-visual collections in the Netherlands with historical film and sound recordings.

Defines and translates 4,500 library and documentation terms from the Dutch into English, French, German, and Spanish.

Luxembourg

A historical overview of research and public libraries in Luxembourg with an emphasis on the National Library. Bibliography includes publications of the National Library as well as works about its history and special collections.

Despite its publication date, this edition remains the most current guide to libraries in Luxembourg. It lists basic information about 42 libraries, 32 of which are located in the city of Luxembourg. The libraries are categorized as follows: national library (1), university-level libraries (2), popular (municipal) libraries (5), special libraries (27), and academic libraries (7).
This dictionary, prepared by the International Council on Archives, supersedes the Lexicon of archival terminology (1964). It defines 500 commonly used archival terms (ledger, parchment, concordance) and concepts (intrinsic value, provenance, legal deposit), including those related to new developments in records management and microform technology. Definitions are arranged in English alphabetical order with definitions in French juxtaposed. Equivalent terms, but not definitions, follow each entry in Dutch, German, Italian, Russian, and Spanish. There are separate indexes for each language.

Entire issue devoted to archives guides.

Includes the most basic and accessible writing available in English and selected European languages, as of January 1978, on the history of national systems of archives administration and national archival institutions. In addition to sections on international finding aids, there are country specific listings of repository and subject guides to archives. Section ten covers "Archives in Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg." International archival developments, including readings related to archives of international organizations (European Communities) and international archival associations (International Council on Archives) are covered in Part 4.

The first part of this volume is entitled "archives, libraries, museums, and documentation centres." The second part of the volume contains the general index to the first thirty volumes of Archivum. An index by country and by subject are cross-referenced to an alphabetical list of articles. Includes Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands.

Volume one is devoted to "The United Nations system" and volume two covers the "Archives of international organizations and their former officials in the custody of national and other archival and manuscript repositories."
Directories And Guides To Collections

Appears as volume XXXVI of Archivum. An important bibliography with citations to directories and guides to archives; arranged by country.

Appears as volume XXXIII of Archivum and replaces, in large part, the previous directory published by Michel Duchein in 1972-73 (Archivum, vols. XXII-XXIII). Organized by country with introductory citations to national directories, research tools, and bibliographies. Covers state archives, ministerial archives, municipal and town archives, hospital archives, ecclesiastical archives, museum archives, and university archives. Index by place name.

European Sources

Provides a history of archival training in Europe with special mention of the Netherlands. May serve as useful background information for researchers planning to use European archives.

Covers the General State Archives (128) of the Netherlands, the State Archives (208) of Luxembourg, and Belgian Ministry of Foreign Affairs (138) archives.

Belgium

Archives et bibliothèques de Belgique. Archief- en bibliotheekwezen in België. 1- , 1923- .

The primary journal with scholarly articles about developments in Belgian archives and libraries. Bibliography section lists and reviews new archival inventories. For further bibliographic information consult the annual reports of the General State Archives and the Royal Library’s 1989 catalog of publications in print listed in the library section above.

This bio-bibliography of the research staff of the Belgian General State Archives and State Archives in the Provinces succeeds the 1969 edition. Provides vita and publications (archival, scholarly, contributions to reference works, critical reviews).

Entries are arranged alphabetically by name of archives, with Flemish provinces preceding Walloon provinces. There is a special section devoted to studies about Belgium's state archives, historical publications, and educational publications (including exhibition catalogs).

This guide to municipal and town archives covers Dutch communities in volume one, "Nederlandstalige en tweetalige gemeenten," and French communities in volume two, "Communes francophones et bilingues." Entries are subdivided into public and private archives. The descriptions are based on a questionnaire circulated in 1984-85. Standard directory information is provided: address, hours, closing, directors, entry requirements, services, use regulations, extent of holdings, contents, and finding aids.

Provides an overview of the major record groups and inventories of the General State Archives in Brussels.

Describes the status of town archival management for each province in Flanders. Includes an appendix that lists the addresses, telephone numbers, archivists, and opening hours of the town archives. Should be supplemented by Debruyn.

Directories And Guides To Collections

Lists the inventories of archives conserved in Belgium which appeared before January 1, 1969.

describes the archives of provincial administrations in Belgium.

A general directory that covers the General State Archives, other official archives, city archives, municipal museum archives, university archives (limited to Louvain), and ecclesiastical archives. Date and must be supplemented by more recent works.

Netherlands

The most important series of guides to the General State Archives and archives in the provinces is "Overzichten van de archieven en verzamelingen in de openbare archiefbewaarplaatsen in Nederland" published for the Association of Archivists in the Netherlands by Samsom.

Guides and Handbooks
To keep current consult the journal: Nederlands archievenblad: tijdschrift van de vereniging van archivarissen in Nederland. 1892/93-. ISSN 0028-2049
A heavily illustrated introduction to materials in Dutch archives.

Booy, E.P. de, and A.J. Looijenga, comps. Overzicht van archieven van particuliere ondernemingen berustend in openbare archiefbewaarplaatsen.
Covers archives of banks, insurance companies, trade companies (by region and by product), industry, agriculture, fisheries, utilities, transportation, and others.

Although written for upper division high school students and university students, this well-illustrated and documented guide will be useful to anyone intending to use Dutch archives. It describes the organization of archives and introduces archival research methodology. Concludes with an extensive series of bibliographies that identify other archive guides, bibliographic finding aids, glossaries and subject dictionaries, biographical dictionaries, and resources for genealogical research. Closes with an unannotated list of archives, arranged by province.

A twenty-year review of the development of archives in the Netherlands, with a summary in English and German.

Guide to municipal and water control board archives.

Formsma, W.J., and F.C.J. Ketelaar. Gids voor de Nederlandse archieven.
An introduction to using archives with an explanation of their structure and organization in the Netherlands. Includes a useful bibliography that identifies reference tools for old script, chronologies, language, numismatics, weights and measures, genealogy, heraldry, arms and seals, and weaponry.

Discusses the history of archive administration in the Netherlands, the organization of Dutch archives, the right of public access to and accessibility of archives, finding aids, and archive legislation.
A guide to mortgage (deeds) and cadastral (land registry) archives from the 19th and first half of the 20th century.

A brief fact sheet about the conservation of public records in the Netherlands.

A registry of births, marriages, and deaths. General remarks appear in Dutch, English, and German.

Terminology
Official publication of the Association of Dutch archivists, which replaces the 1962 edition of Nederlandse archiefterminologie (NAT) by J.L. van der Gouw et al. The lexicon has three main subdivisions: concepts, orders, and description. Previous definitions from NAT are provided with comments and revisions. An alphabetical index by term refers to both defined words and words merely cited in definitions. Antiquated terms are indicated.

Luxembourg
Describes the conservation and availability of contemporary archives in Luxembourg.

Online Services and Databases

International Sources

Published since 1971, this international handbook provides information about computerized databases, database producers and publishers, and online vendors.

European Sources

Although rapidly becoming outdated, this volume describes networks and databases of the European Community and other specialized international organizations.

In English, Spanish, and Catalan.

Discusses three categories of E.C. databases: bibliographic, factual, and statistical. A chart provides an overview of their coverage, number of records, frequency of updates, costs, hosts, and so forth.

A guide to the European information industry and telecommunications, with a chapter devoted to European Community databases.

Netherlands

First issued in 1986; loose-leaf format. Covers some 50 databases emanating from the Netherlands.
Patents

European Sources

Organized by country, each chapter covers: general information; patent documents; official gazette; sources of supply and prices; register of legal status; public services (includes databases); and provincial libraries.

Philosophy

International Sources

An international bibliography of philosophy that appears quarterly in Tijdschrift voor filosofie (ISSN 0040-750x).

Netherlands

Continuing bibliography covering the work of Dutch and Flemish philosophers and studies about philosophy.
