Dr. Charles Newton, associate professor of orthopedic surgery, was the main speaker at a meeting sponsored by the Tri-State Bird and Rescue Inc. and the Woman's S.P.C.A. of Pennsylvania. This was a seminar on avian orthopedic surgery held on September 28, 1982 in Philadelphia at the Ritter Hospital for Small Animals of the Woman's S.P.C.A.

Dr. Vincent J. Cristofalo, professor of biochemistry and director of the Center for Aging, is the recipient of the Robert W. Kleemeier Award for 1982. This award is made by the Gerontological Society of America and recognizes Dr. Cristofalo's many contributions in the field of gerontology.

Merck Sharp and Dohme Research Laboratories awarded the Veterinary School a $5,000 Merck Animal Health Education Grant for the purpose of developing a program of computer assisted audiovisual simulation of physiological teaching laboratory exercises. The award was presented to Dr. David K. Detweiler (left), professor of physiology, by Dr. R. L. Seward (right), associate director of clinical research, Merck Sharp and Dohme.

Robert J. Eckroade, D.V.M., Ph.D., Associate Professor of Poultry Pathology was elected secretary-treasurer of the American Association of Avian Pathologists (AAAP), and the national office of the AAAP has been relocated to the New Bolton Center.

Dr. Charles D. Knecht (V '56) received the 1982 Gaines Award at the AVMA convention in Salt Lake City, Utah on July 20. Dr. Knecht, who is head of the Department of Small Animal Medicine and Surgery at the School of Veterinary Medicine, Auburn University, was cited for his outstanding contributions to small animal medicine and surgery.

Dr. Gerald M. Snyder (V '71) of Pompano Beach, Florida, was senior veterinarian on a project combining the resources of the National Audubon Society and the National Trust of the Bahamas involving the Bahamas' national bird, the flamingo. The work included a de-lighting procedure to prepare the birds for exhibition in various parts of the islands. Strangely, even though the flamingo is the national bird, the great majority of the Bahamian people have never seen one! (A situation akin to the American people and our national bird, the eagle.) Dr. Snyder is also very active in lecturing on practice management in this country and in Europe.

Dr. Roy D. Hoffman (V '31) was named a Paul Harris Fellow by the Bedford Chapter of Rotary International. Dr. Hoffman, a long-time resident of Bedford, PA, was cited for his outstanding service to the chapter and to the community.

Dr. Colin Johnstone, associate dean for student affairs, has been appointed to the board of trustees of the Dog Writers Educational Trust.

We welcome two new members to our Board of Overseers, W. Edward McGough, M.D., and Mr. Oakleigh B. Thorne. Dr. McGough is professor of psychiatry at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey—Rutgers Medical School and is president of the Monmouth County Kennel Club. He raises Cardigan Welsh Corgis and is a well-known dog show judge. Mr. Thorne is chairman and director of CT Corporation Systems, a firm specializing in tax and business law reports. He is president of the Oakleigh L. Thorne Foundation and is active in the New York Farmers Association. Mr. Thorne's ancestors were 17th-Century farmers in Duchess County, N.Y., and were among the first to import Short-horn and Durham cattle from England for breeding purposes.

Erratum

In the Spring, 1982 issue of Bellwether we incorrectly noted that the School of Engineering of the University of Pennsylvania was created in 1893. Actually this School dates back to 1852 when a School of Mines, Arts and Manufactures was established. We are indebted to Dean Joseph Bordogna of the School of Engineering for calling this to our attention.

Dr. Paul Nicolaysen (V '81) points out that in the column titled “Animal Crackers” we used the term brachiocephalic to describe certain breeds of dogs. The proper term here is brachycephalic. Dr. Nicolaysen indicated that the prefix brachio means “arm”, whereas brachy refers to “short” (and wide).
