Subscribers and contributors should understand that HAN is carried on with a small budget as a spare-time activity. Correspondence and documentation relating to institutional or subscription service billing must therefore be kept to a minimum.

We depend very much on our readers to send along bibliographic notes, research reports, and items for our other departments. It will not always be possible, however, to acknowledge contributions, or to explain the exclusion of those few items not clearly related to the history of anthropology or for other reasons inappropriate.
SOURCES FOR THE HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY

I. The Sources of British Anthropology

At the invitation of the Getty Center for the History of Art and the Humanities, of Santa Monica, California, Julian Jacobs (Department of Social Anthropology, University of Cambridge) is doing research on the textual and visual sources for the history of anthropology in Britain. He is starting with a short pilot project, focusing on two anthropological traditions (those of Malinowski and Haddon), and five archival centers (the Haddon Library in Cambridge; the Pitt Rivers Museum in Oxford; the Royal Anthropological Institute, the London School of Economics, and the Museum of Mankind, in London).

II. The Papers of John Layard

The unpublished notes, manuscripts and letters of John Layard (1892-1974), student of W. H. R. Rivers and early fieldworker on the islands of Atchin and Malekula in the New Hebrides (Vanuatu), have been deposited in the Melanesian archive by his son Richard Layard. Included is an unpublished 800 page manuscript on the kinship system of Atchin, folklore notes from the Scilly Isles, off Cornwall, and clinical notes from Layard's later career as a Jungian analyst. Processing is expected to be complete by the end of 1990. Further information regarding the Layard papers and other Melanesian Archive holdings may be obtained from Professor Donald Tuzin, Department of Anthropology, C-001, University of California, San Diego, La Jolla, CA 92093.

Malinowski's Diary Redux: Entries for an Index

If ever a book in the history of anthropology might profit from an index, it must be the kaleidoscopic free associations of Malinowski's Diary in the Strict Sense of the Term. But the very character that demands it also forestalls the enterprise, and one can understand why the editors did not bother. Those who have worked closely with the diary since its publication in 1967 have had to do it themselves, making use also of such other labor as they might solicit or command. In addition to some indexing efforts of my own, I asked students in several undergraduate and graduate seminars of the late 1970s and early 1980s to keep a specific category in mind when they read the diary, recording all the instances of its appearance. Some categories were taken from a list I provided, others (e.g., "love") were their own inventions.
Reorganized, edited, and reproduced here is a selection of those categories. In some cases, only portions of the diary were indexed, and in no case can it be guaranteed that all possible references to any given topic have been included. However, we have confirmed the page numbers of those actually listed. Given certain irregularities of Malinowski's dating, the parenthetic dates may in certain instances be only approximate. Although this sampling of possible categories can have only a very limited scholarly utility, readers of HAN may nevertheless find it of some biographical and intellectual historical interest. When time and space permit, other categories may be offered in future numbers of HAN; until then, however, the present form of the data make it impossible to respond to inquiries.

The parenthetic initials after each entry heading refer to the compilers listed below; page references are followed by a parenthetic date. In some categories, the entries are annotated; in other case, the more important references are simply marked with an asterisk. (GS)

Diaries and the problems thereof (BS)

Day by day without exception I shall record the events in chronological order. --Every day an account of the preceding day: a mirror of events, a moral evaluation, location of the mainsprings of my life, a plan for the next day. (103: epigraph to the 1917 diary).

-----121 (11/18/17); 175 (1/6/18); 186* (1/16/18); 244 (4/7/18); 247* (4/11/18); 279 (5/22/18)

Dreams (GS)

I had a strange dream; homosex., with my own double as partner. Strangely autoerotic feelings; the impression that I'd like to have a mouth just like mine to kiss, a neck that curves just like mine, a forehead just like mine (seen from the side). I got up tired and collected myself slowly. (12-13; 9/20/14)
-----66 (1/19/15) [three women asleep in one room]; 70 (1/21/15) [chemical discoveries]; 71 (1/22/15) [of two women]; 73 (1/23/15) [research in New Guinea]; 78 (2/5/15) [Toska]; 80 (2/5/15) [Mother]; 82 (2/7/15) [mistress with white body]; 116 (11/15/17) [riding tram without his wife to be, E.R.M. = Elsie Rosalyn Masson]; 149 (12/12/17) [Tess of the d'Urbervilles and E.R.M.]; 159 (12/21/17) [Stas Witkiewicz and his father]; 191 (1/20/18) [two dreams: Germans and war; a woman betrays him]; 202 (2/14/18) [Mother reproaches him for not marrying N.S. = Nina Stirling]; 203 (2/15/18) [fraternizes with crippled German cavalry officers]; 204 (2/16/18) [E.R.M., Mim, and BM together]; 207 (2/20/18) [pawing two sexy barmaids]; 208 (2/21/18) [about Mr. Wallace, modern music, Richard Strauss]; 255 (4/18/18) [Stas and N.S.]; 290 (6/8/18) [two "horrid" dreams, one of Freudian type]; 295 (6/30/18) [Warsaw, Zenia and Stas, Mother]

Guseweta

Formulated plans for next five or six months: Vakuta must be given No. 1 place. Revise and formulate basic gaps: Mwasila [kula] magic; waga megwa [canoe magic]; tauva'u [evil beings] in Vakuta, etc. and then develop all this systematically. Eliminate Capuan days in Sinaketa and Guseweta. (259: 4/21/18)

-----143-49 (12/3-12/17); 163-67 (12/24-27/17); 170-71 (1/1-2/18); 180-84 (1/10-13/18); 188-89 (1/18/18); 195-96 (1/24-25/18); 198-99 (2/3-6/18); 202 (2/14/18); 208-09 (2/22-24/18); 209-10 (2/25-26/18); 246 (4/11/18); 269-89 (5/7-6/7/18) [working in the Gusaweta area; sick 5/18-25]

Kula (JN)

After lunch went to the village, ate paku. talked with the boys, when the Dobu arrived. I hurried out (and in my hurry didn't take extra rolls of film!). Impressions from kula (once again feeling of ethnographic joy!). Sitting in Tovasana's boat I looked at the kula ceremonies. Raffael watched from the shore. Sinaketa almost like a summer resort with all these gumanuma people.--I was engrossed--as an ethnographer--in all the goings on. (244: 4/5/18)

-----94* (3/1/15); 118 (11/17/17); 124 (11/20/17); 125 (11/22/17); 128 (11/24/17); 130 (11/25/17); 140 (11/30/17); 145 (12/7/17); 163 (12/15/17); 169 (12/30/17); 172 (1/3/18); 223 (3/17/18); 233-34* (3/24/18); 238 (3/28/18); 241 (3/31/18); 244 (4/5/18); 245 (4/8/18); 249 (4/12, 4/13/18); 250 (4/14/18); 256 (4/19/18)
Missionaries (EH, WF)

Saville's underhand dealings with Armit annoy me, as well as the persecution of people unfriendly to the mission. Mentally I collect arguments against missions and ponder a really effective anti-mission campaign. The arguments: these people destroy the natives' joy in life; they destroy their psychological raison d'être. And what they give in return is completely beyond the savages. They struggle consistently and ruthlessly against everything old and create new needs, both material and moral. No question but that they do harm.—I want to discuss this matter with Armit and Murray. If possible also with the royal commission.

(41:11/29/14)

Mother (PS)

At times I see Mother still alive, in a soft gray hat and a gray dress, or in a house dress, or in a black dress, with a round black hat.—Again frightening thoughts: death, a skeleton, naturalistic thoughts interwoven with pain in the heart. My own death is becoming something infinitely more real to me.—Strong feeling to go to Mother, to join her in nothingness. I recall the things Mother used to say about death. I recall the countless occasions when I deliberately cut myself off from Mother, so as to be alone, independent—not to have the feeling that I am part of a whole—furious regrets and guilt feelings.—Our last moments together in London—our last evening spoiled by that whore!—I feel that if I had been married to E.R.M., I would have behaved very differently.—Mother's last words, what she would have told me about her feelings, fears, hopes. I never was open with her, I never told her everything. Now, had it not been for this accursed war, I might have given more in my letters than I had been able to give her in person.—At moments I feel that this is only the death of 'something' within me—my ambitions and appetites have a strong hold on me and tie me to life.

(297:7/18/18)
Natives: some modes of reference

Thought about how to describe all this for E.R.M. The moon, the sea, the mood. The mon induces a specific clearly defined mood, I hum "and then there was Suzanna, pretty pale, and virtuous." Expression of feelings, complementary social milieu, imaginary. Suddenly I tumble back into the real milieu with which I am also in contact. Then again suddenly they stop existing in their inner reality, I see them as an incongruous yet artistic and [savage], exotic=unreal, intangible, floating on the surface of reality, like a multicolored picture on the face of a solid but drab wall. I came back, Anaibutuna raced with the boys. Delightful feeling that now I alone am the master of this village with my 'boys.' (235:3/25/18)

Novels (AL, MA)

Unfortunately, with the east wind, absolutely everybody left Mailu. I wanted to go with them, but I bargained, and they wouldn't take what I offered to pay, and this infuriated me—against the two policemen and the majority of the inhabitants—and completely discouraged me as well. Moreover there was absolutely nobody. Thursday I began to read Bragelonne, and I read it literally without interruption, until Wednesday or Tuesday night. Dumas, say what you will, has a certain fascination. In the end he held me in his grip, though he doubtless has enormous shortcomings... And the reconstruction of the past is carried out disgracefully. Aramis comes out a perfect ass, makes no sense at all. I would start reading the moment I got up, I didn't stop while I was eating, and I kept on till midnight. Only at sunset did I drag myself from my couch, and went for a short walk along the seashore. My head was humming, my eyes and brain were [ . . . ]—and yet I read, read, and kept on reading without letup as though I were reading myself to death. Resolved that after finishing this trash I wouldn't touch another book in N[ew] G[uinea]. (62-63: 1/15/15)

Poland

At night rain, insomnia; thought of N. and Toska with sensual regret, for that which will never come back. Thought about Poland, about 'Polish woman'; for the first time deep regret that E. R. M. is not Polish. But I rejected the idea that perhaps our engagement is not definitive. I shall go back to Poland and my children will be Poles. (252-53: 4/15/18)

Rivers, W. H. R. (GD)

Worked with Togugu, but before that read Rivers as a sort of warm-up. This time he seemed much less absurd, and with reservations he himself recognizes, his book [The History of Melanesian Society?] doesn't look bad. Reading it stimulated me, and I simply bubble up with theoretical ideas. (280:5/14/18)

Theoretical matters (MD, GD)

Yesterday, returning from Wawela I had some ethnological ideas, but I cannot remember what they were. They had a bearing on the general theoretical "sauce" in which my concrete observations are to be dressed up. (158:12/19/17)

Tokulabakiki [informant noted as "my best friend" in The Sexual Life of Savages, p. 174] (DF)

For two weeks haven't kept the diary. Throughout that time my health was good, my capacity for work was excellent, and I worked a great deal. In the morning after I got up, the niggers would come to gimwalli [barter]. I worked a great deal with Tokulabakiki --great progress in magic and linguistics. During work, I am normally calm, occasionally even cheerful. Sometimes--only in the afternoon--in addition to the words of megwa [magic], images from the past emerge. --Italy, the Canary Islands, or other places I visited with Mother. Then I go for a walk. For some time I was calm and lightheaded, then there was an immensely strong resurgence of grief. (296: 7/16/18)

[Malinowski's Diary in the Strict Sense of the Term has recently been reprinted by the Stanford University Press, with a "Second Introduction 1988" by Sir Raymond Firth, reviewing some of the literature produced in response to the original edition]
RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

Raymond Corbey (Department of Philosophy, Nijmegen University) is carrying on research on "Ideas of Wildness and Primitiveness in European Thought, ca. 1850-1930." The first phase dealt with representations of tribal cultures, focussing on Africa (cf. below, "Suggested by our Readers"). The second phase of the project will trace ideas on wildness and primitiveness in post-Enlightenment thought (e.g., Nietzsche, Freud, Bataille). Two further lines will focus on violence, ritual killing, headhunting and cannibalism, and on the theoretical elucidations of relations between power, the gaze, photography and the representation of others.

Nancy Cutler Daniels (Department of Anthropology, UCLA) is working on a doctoral dissertation to be entitled "Still Life: The Use of Archival Ethnographic Photographs." and will be conducting research in the papers of A.C. Haddon, W. Baldwin Spencer, Bronislaw Malinowski, Margaret Mead, and Gregory Bateson.

Edgar Krebs (Institute of Social Anthropology, Oxford University) is working on a D. Phil. thesis on "A History of Anthropological Ideas on the River Plate: The Place of the Indian in the Consciousness and Imagination of the Argentines," and is interested in George Catlin's hitherto neglected travels in South America.

Luis Vásquez León (Prin. Ixtaccihuatl 2726, Col. Volcanes, 72410 Puebla, Mexico) is at work on a doctoral dissertation on "Anthropology and Anthropologists in Mexico: Sociology of a Social Science."

Arturo A. Roldán (Department of Social Anthropology, Universidad Complutense, Madrid) is working on a dissertation on the history of fieldwork techniques in British Social Anthropology from Tylor to Malinowski.

Paul M. Taylor (National Museum of Natural History, Washington, D.C.) has been transcribing and editing for publication the papers of the Smithsonian Institution's major collector from Southeast Asia, William Louis Abbott, who was much influenced by Otis Mason in his collecting activities.

I. Recent Journal Numbers

Gradhiva: The seventh number includes "Anthropologues et missionnaires avant la rupture," a lecture of W. H. R. Rivers (reproduced first in HAN 15:2), translated into French and explicated by Bertrand Pulman, as well as essays on Algerian postcards by David Prochaska and the Paris colonial exposition of 1931 by Herman Lebovics.

II. Recent Dissertations
(Ph. D. except where M.A. indicated)

Hovens, Pieter. "Herman F.C. ten Kate Jr. en de Antropologie der Noord-Amerikaanse Indianen" (Katholieke Universiteit te Nijmegen, 1989). Published with 35 plates and a brief summary in English by Krips Repro, Meppel.

Lindsay, Debra. "Science in the Subarctic: Traders, trappers, and the Smithsonian Institution (1859-67)" (University of Manitoba, 1989).

III. Recent Work by Subscribers

[Except in the case of new subscribers, for whom we will include one or two orienting items, "recent" is taken to mean within the last two years. Please note that we do not list "forthcoming" items. To be certain of dates and page numbers, please wait until your works have actually appeared before sending offprints (preferably), or citations in the style used in History of Anthropology and most anthropological journals]

Llobera, J. R. [1989]. The orientalism of Gobineau as a form of cultural relativism. Pamphlet published by Goldsmiths' College, University of London

IV. Suggested by our Readers

[The assumption here is the same as in the preceding section: we list "recent" work--i.e., items appearing in the last several years.]

Gilliland, Marion. 1990. Key Marco's Buried Treasure (Gainesville: University Presses of Florida) [Cushing's archeological work in southern Florida--A.L.C.]
