The Flea Club is in Search of a New Piano!

by Emily Jones, V’05, Flea Club Director

Do you or anyone you know have a piano that isn’t wanted anymore? Why not donate it to the Flea Club? We are Penn Veterinary Medicine’s premiere singing group composed of students, faculty and staff. Currently we have about 15 members, and we practice once a week and give concerts at the end of every semester and during the Annual SCAVMA Auction.

Now we’re looking for your help, as our one-legged, sticky-keyed piano continues to deteriorate. We all love singing and providing entertainment to the School community. We sing everything from popular music to religious and secular holiday favorites. So if you can help us continue to do that by helping us find a new piano, we’d love to hear from you!

If you are able to help or if you have any questions, please contact me via e-mail at <ecj@mail.vet.upenn.edu>. Thanks a lot!
