FRONTE REDS OF RESEARCH
$6,435,040
Penn Vet consistently strives to expand research dollars because it allows faculty and staff to find new methods of treating devastating diseases and illnesses which afflict both animals and humans. Additional resources will enable Penn Vet to play a leading role in introducing new strategies and treatments, such as stem cell therapies, in animals long before they can be applied to humans.

SUPPORTING STUDENTS
$1,256,719
Allaying the national shortage of veterinarians poses a special challenge at Penn, where, as a private institution, tuition is relatively high. Graduates now leave the School of Veterinary Medicine with an average debt of $160,000. Relieving the burden will allow students to pursue post-doctoral studies and careers in fields where there are critical shortages. Scholarship support also allows Penn Vet to recruit the best and brightest students.

LEADING THE PROFESSION
$241,239
The ability of Penn Vet to lead the profession depends in large part on the strength of its faculty. Endowed professorships are critical to successful faculty recruitment at the highest level because the income enables a stable funding stream for use in research and teaching programs, and endowed positions help leverage other talent and funding.

“The reason I felt it important to include New Bolton Center in my final bequests as a major beneficiary, is my father’s, Walton Perry Davis Jr. and my life long passion for horses. The bequest is in his memory. Dad was a talented young horseman. At the age of 13 he was the first boy to win the Good Hands Championship in 1934. In 1935, he was again the first boy to be awarded the Maclay Trophy. He instilled his passion for horses (animals in general) in me and supported my efforts throughout my career from the show ring to being chosen to train with the USEF under Jack LeGoff in the 1970’s. New Bolton has also played a big role in the treatment and health of my horses over the years.”

On Saturday, July 21, Philadelphia philanthropist and Ground Zero Salon owner Wendy Weinstein, working with Penn Vet Board of Overseers member Krista Bueger hosted the Black and White (With a Touch of Faux Fur) Ball at Le Meridien Philadelphia to raise money for Penn Vet’s Shelter Animal Medicine Program. More than $30,000 was raised that evening, which included live bands, a fashion show and food from top Philly restaurants. Penn Vet Dean Joan C. Hendricks, faculty, staff and students, as well as members of the community and steadfast Penn Vet supporters attended.

This list reflects giving of $250 or more during fiscal year 2012 (July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2012). If donors have any questions about this report, they can contact the Development Office at 215-746-7460.

“Penn Vet’s Pet Memorial Program provides Pennsylvania’s only teaching veterinary hospital with much needed unrestricted financial support. I started to participate in 2004 not only to express sympathy for the loss of a loved one but to support Ryan Hospital’s operation and spread awareness of Penn Vet’s contributions to animal medicine. During the Making History campaign, $250,000 has been raised through the Pet Memorial Program by generous Penn Vet friends, alumni and referring veterinarians nationwide.”

Gifts to the Vet Student Scholarship Fund help alleviate some of the financial debt that our students accumulate while receiving their medical training. You – our dedicated alumni, students, parents, clients and friends – have a special affinity for Penn Vet. And it is because of that relationship that we are inviting you to become a part of our history as we dedicate a new outdoor space where your Penn Vet experience can be forever remembered. This fall, we are offering the opportunity to have granite pavers engraved with the names of those whose lives have been touched by the school in the Hill Pavilion Plaza on the Philadelphia campus.

This is a unique chance for you to memorialize a beloved pet, honor a veterinarian that provided exceptional care, celebrate a reunion class – and more. You may also choose to support the area of the school that is most meaningful to you, whether it be where the need is greatest, student scholarship, research or hospital renovations and facilities.

Share your own story by reserving a paver today and creating a permanent legacy in support of Penn Vet and the School’s mission of teaching, research and service. Pledges must be made by December 31, 2012 to be included in the Making History campaign. Plans are currently underway to identify an additional location on the New Bolton Center campus in 2013; for more information, please contact Jillian Marcussen, director of special projects, at 215-898-4235 and jillian2@vet.upenn.edu, or visit http://www.vet.upenn.edu/paverprogram.
