

We are delighted to announce the first volume of the Penn McNair Scholars Research Journal. We formally present a selection of the works that our students have executed under the guidance of Penn's renowned faculty members. The McNair Scholars represent majors in many fields across the arts and sciences, and that breadth of interests is reflected in this journal's variety of topics.

The McNair Scholars Program directly supports Penn's Campus Compact by increasing underrepresented students' access to graduate education. As the first Ivy League university to host the program, we at the offices of the Provost and the Vice Provost for University Life are proud to be consistent supporters.

This volume will be published annually, and McNair Scholars' research is also available online at the McNair site on the ScholarlyCommons repository of Penn Libraries.

We congratulate the McNair Scholars on their excellent work thus far, and we wish them continued success.

Ronald J. Daniels, Provost

Dr. Valerie Swain Cade McCollum, Vice-Provost for University Life