Things are still moving!

Hello to all!

Things are still moving along with John and I! We have finished up the letters and are now moving on to checking our work and setting up the website. The platform we are going to be using is called Omeka. It's a website that is for exhibitions and suits our needs to best present the letters and transcriptions. Once we have uploaded the letters we will focus on making sure the letters are accurate and linking topics through hyperlinking. We will post on here once the site is up and running, but for now most of the work is being remotely done. John and I are both continuing to work on getting everything together so we can show the potential of the Penn Manuscript Collective.

Advertisements

An advertisement for a service. The background is a close-up of several daisies in shades of white, yellow, and orange. Overlaid on the left is the text "Create a space for your passion" in a bold, white, sans-serif font. Below this text is a blue button with the words "Get Started" in white. On the right side of the ad is a white smartphone. The screen of the phone shows a gallery interface with the text "paint in oil" at the top, a small "artwork" label, and "LATEST WORK: FLOWERS IN SPRING" in large, bold letters. At the bottom of the screen, it says "Published March 1, 2013 by Heather Grey on the Artwork Collective".
