V. HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY IN NORWAY

Donald Tumasonis notes the following items:

The Editors, Antropolognytt "Johs fyller 70" (Johs is 70), Antropolognytt, no. 1 (1981):4-17. [Retrospective interview with the Norwegian anthropologist Johs Falkenberg, on his seventieth birthday. Contains much anecdotal material on various figures in the anthropological circles of Norway.]

Klausen, Arne Martin, "Antropologien i Norge" (Anthropology in Norway) Antropolognytt nr. 3 (1980):4-23. [History of the development of anthropology as an academic discipline in Norway from its earliest years to the period just after World War II.]

Klausen, Arne Martin, Antropologiens historie (Oslo: Gyldendal, 1981). (The History of Anthropology.) [The first full-length study of anthropology's history to be published in Norwegian. Of special value are the chapters on anthropology in Scandinavian countries, and the detailed, close-grained analysis of Norwegian anthropology.]

CORRECTION

The title of James Clifford's forthcoming biographical study of Maurice Leenhardt was incorrectly given in the last number of HAN. It should be Person and Myth: Maurice Leenhardt in the Melanesian World (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1982).

SURVEY OF HAN SUBSCRIBERS

Having promised some results from our survey, we feel obligated to present information about the HAN network, despite the fact that analysis of this material has not yet been carried through as systematically as we had hoped. We include here the names and (abbreviated) addresses of all current (and recent) individual subscribers, along with a brief index of certain major categories of research interest for all those who responded to the questionnaire. Because the listing and index was prepared immediately prior to publication, without time for double checking, we cannot absolutely vouch for the accuracy of all categorizations. In the hope of facilitating scholarly communication among our readership, it seemed best, however, to publish such information as we have available at this point. Thanks are due to Alan Mick and Brian Kiniry for help in tabulating.
