RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

Tucker Childs (Applied Linguistics, Portland State University) is preparing short historical sketches of a number of African linguists.

Neil Fligstein (University of California, Berkeley) has won a Guggenheim Fellowship for a study of the “process of Europeanization.”

Daniel Moses (Social Studies, Harvard University, danielmoses36@hotmail.com) is working on an intellectual biography of Lewis Henry Morgan.

Robert Richards (History of Science, University of Chicago) has won a Guggenheim Fellowship for a study of Ernst Haeckel and the battle over evolution in Germany.

Charles L. Vaughn (London School of Economics) is conducting research on the anthropological career of Charles Wisdom (1903-1965) in connection with his own doctoral research on the Maya Chorti of Honduras.

Bennett Zon (University of Durham, Bennett.zon@durham.ac.uk) is writing a book titled “Constructing the Musical Orient in Nineteenth-Century Britain,” which includes an exploration of the early ethnomusicological work of C.S. Myers within the framework of ethnopsychology and early attitudes toward race.

RECENT BIBLIOGRAPHY

[Occasionally, readers call our attention to errors in the entries, usually of a minor typographical character. Typing the entries is a burdensome task, and under the pressure of getting HAN out, some proofreading errors occasionally slip by. For these we offer a blanket apology, but will not normally attempt corrections. We call attention to the listings in the Bulletin of the History of Archaeology, the entries in the annual bibliographies of Isis, and those in the Bulletin d'information de la SFHSH [Société française pour l'histoire des sciences de l'homme]—each of which takes information from HAN, as we do from them]. Please note that the format of the bibliography has changed. We will include recent dissertations, recent work by subscribers, and work suggested by our readers in the same bibliography. We continue to welcome and encourage bibliographic suggestions from our readers.]
