

21 Monday Nov
2016

A Recipe for Success: The Manuscript Collective Returns

POSTED BY FLIBBERT2014 IN UNCATEGORIZED

≈ LEAVE A COMMENT

After a summer hiatus, the Manuscript Collective reconvened in October. We went through a brush-up on Secretary Hand, then dove straight into a transcription exercise. The result: a page transcribed from an exceptionally difficult manuscript.

The manuscript, Ms Codex 1601, is a collection of recipes inscribed in different hands, dated roughly from 1600 to 1825. Such a long span of use for one book is unusual, at least in my limited view, and I'd love to see someone tackle a project to inquire into the provenance of the manuscript. The Franklin record states that some of the recipes are linked to publishings by Elizabeth Grey (1653 and 1687), and later Doctor Short. However, little is known about the array of hands, or the relationships of one owner to another. Is it a family recipe book? Did earlier recipes influence later ones in the book? Interesting questions, worth pursuing.

For the majority of the meeting, which was revelrous, we reviewed the basics of Secretary Hand. (Because who doesn't need a brush-up?) Next, we completed a group transcription exercise of the table of contents of this manuscript. The hand was particularly difficult for novice transcribers:

Here is our partial transcription of the first page:

for boild meats

To boile browne

To boile in gamond of bacon

To boile veale

To boile a capon in

White broth

To boile a capon or chickens

in w[hi]t[e] brothe w[i]th almonds

To boile a Rabbett

To boile a Mallard

W[i]th] cabbage

To boile a ducke w[i]th turneps

To boile chickens

on sorrell sopes

To boile a pike in

white broth

Advertisements

Create a space for your passion

Get Started

WordPress.com

paint in oil

LATEST WORK: FLOWERS IN SPRING

Published March 1, 2017 by Heather Decy on the WordPress.com blog

Create a space for your passion

Get Started

WordPress.com

paint in oil

LATEST WORK: FLOWERS IN SPRING

Published March 1, 2017 by Heather Decy on the WordPress.com blog

SHARE THIS:

Be the first to like this.

RELATED

And we're off!

Palaeography Group
Holiday Party
In "Academic Year
2013-2014"

Writing on Writing on Writing: An
afternoon's foray into marginalia and revisions

LEAVE A REPLY

Enter your comment here...

Search...

Go

RECENT POSTS

- A Brief History of Paper: Craftsmanship, Then and Now
- A Recipe for Success: The Manuscript Collective Returns
- Three Transcriptions!
- Poems by John Syng Dorsey
- Letters as Physical Objects: A Hands-on Exploration

RECENT COMMENTS

Words, words, words!... on Anatomy of a Letter

Dianne Mitchell on Featured Project: "In principi...

Featured Project: "I... on And we're off!

And we're off!... on Introductions, part 1

my4 | See what'... on Introductions, part 1

◆ ARCHIVES

- November 2016

- May 2016

- April 2016

- February 2016

- November 2015

- October 2015

- September 2015

- August 2015

- March 2015

- November 2014

- April 2014

- February 2014

- January 2014

- November 2013

- October 2013

- August 2013

- July 2013

- June 2013

◆ CATEGORIES

- Academic Year 2013-2014

- Letters

- Student Work

- Summer 2013

- Uncategorized

