

A NEW PUBLICATION IN THE HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY

To provide a focal outlet for the work being produced by the growing number of historians, anthropologists and others doing serious research in the history of anthropology, the University of Wisconsin Press will publish, starting in the Fall of 1982, an annual volume with the series title: History of Anthropology. The series is intended to provide a forum for historically sophisticated and anthropologically informed writing on the development of all aspects of anthropology (archeological, biological, cultural, linguistic, social, etc.) in all national traditions, in the context of the intellectual, social and cultural movements associated with the development of the modern world system. Each volume will consist of about 200 printed pages, so that articles of varying lengths may be accommodated, along with primary documentary material and occasional review essays. To maximize the impact of the series, each volume will, insofar as possible, focus on a particular theme, chosen well in advance and identified in a subtitle (e.g., History of Anthropology I: Fieldwork in Historical Perspective). However, in order to maintain an effective outlet for all currents of on-going research and to reach the broadest possible audience, each volume will also contain one or more non-theme articles.

The series will be edited by George W. Stocking, Professor of Anthropology and Director of the Morris Fishbein Center for the Study of the History of Science and Medicine, University of Chicago. Serving on the Editorial Board (as of December 1, 1981) are: Talal Asad, Anthropology, University of Hull, England (editor of Anthropology and the Colonial Encounter); James Clifford, History of Consciousness, University of California, Santa Cruz (author of Person and Myth: Maurice Leenhardt in the Melanesian World); Curtis Hinsley, History, Colgate University (author of Savages and Scientists: The Smithsonian Institution and the Development of American Anthropology, 1846-1910); Dell Hymes, Education, University of Pennsylvania (author with John Fought of American Structuralism); Henrika Kuklick, History of Science, University of Pennsylvania (author of The Imperial Bureaucrat: The Colonial Administrative Service in the Gold Coast, 1920-1939); Bruce Trigger, Anthropology, McGill University (author of Gordon Childe: Revolutions in Archaeology).

The theme of the first volume will be the development of anthropological fieldwork. Other themes under consideration include "anthropology and Bohemia" (the historical relations of anthropology with the world of art, literature, and the humanities generally); "anthropology and museums"; "the development of academic anthropology"; "the idea of general anthropology in historical perspective"; "anthropology and missionaries"; as well as volumes on particular national traditions, either singly or in comparative perspective. Scholars with manuscripts on these or other topics, or with inquiries about the series, are encouraged to communicate with the editor, c/o Department of Anthropology, University of Chicago, 1126 East 59th Street, Chicago, Illinois 60637, U.S.A. Although we hope to include the whole world in our purview, the series itself will be unavoidably anglophone, except insofar as we are able to include occasional materials in translation.
