

RESEARCH IN PROGRESS

Harry Liebersohn (Department of History, University of Illinois, Urbana) is working on a book tentatively entitled "Noble savages and savage nobles: New World peoples and romantic travellers," which focusses on French and German travellers in North America.

Sandra Rouse (Ph.D. candidate in social anthropology, Cambridge University) is writing a dissertation on the anthropology of A. C. Haddon, and would be willing to check her database for possible references to people who may have corresponded with Haddon (Fax: (403) 282-8606 [Canada]; Email: slr 11@phx.cam.ac.uk).

Sharon Stowers (Ph.D. candidate, University of Massachusetts at Amherst) is doing research on Margaret Mead and her work with immigrants and the problem of nutrition.

Clifford Wilcox (Ph. D. candidate in history, University of Michigan) is engaged in a study of "Robert Redfield and the anthropology of civilizations."

BIBLIOGRAPHICA ARCANA

I. Recent Dissertations (Ph.D. except where otherwise indicated)

Cross, Stephen J. "Designs for living: Lawrence K. Frank and the progressive legacy in American social science" (Johns Hopkins University, 1994) [includes material on culture and personality].

Feldman, Jeffrey D. "Exhibiting Judaica or Jewish exhibitionism: A comparison of two nineteenth-century exhibitions" (Master of Philosophy, Oxford University, 1993).

II. Recent Work by Subscribers

[Except in the case of new subscribers, for whom we will include one or two orienting items, "recent" is taken to mean within the last two years. Please note that we do not list "forthcoming" items. To be certain of dates and page numbers, please wait until your works have actually appeared before sending offprints (preferably) or citations in the style used in History of Anthropology and most anthropological journals]
