Handlers Health Update"

Rosenthal Building, Room 321
3800 Spruce Street

They wowed us all with their tenacity and courage. Three years later, the health and psychological well-being of the 9/11 search-and-rescue dogs and their handlers continue to be the focus of a special research project at Penn. Dr. Cynthia M. Otto, associate professor of critical care in the School of Veterinary Medicine, and Dr. Melissa G. Hunt, G'90, GR'96, associate professor of psychology, will share what the research has revealed to date and discuss the study's future direction.

Penn Vets Keep Watch on Chronic Wasting Disease

A neurological disorder in deer and elk, similar to mad cow disease, has been reported in the United States and Canada. Read how Penn veterinarians are partnering with government experts to thwart its spread into Pennsylvania.

The Aftermath: Dealing with the Grieving Process

The death of a pet can often be more painful than the loss of a friend or family member. Social worker Jodi Levine runs a support group at the Matthew J. Ryan Hospital to help pet owners deal with the grief of losing of an animal.

Field of Dreams

Read about the trials—and joys—of food-animal veterinarian James T. Shissler, V'04, both as a student and a recent graduate.

Scholarships

A listing of support received by Penn Veterinary Medicine's outstanding students from individuals, corporations, and private organizations.
