Subject: Using a published article in a dissertation

Dear AEA office,

I am writing to ask about copyright issues of using my coauthored AER paper published in 2012 as one of my dissertation essays. I want to make sure that I can include this paper in my dissertation with your permission and without violating any copyright issues. I will use this article only in my dissertation and this is not for a commercial publication. It will not be available except for the University of Pennsylvania's shelves and in ProQuest's dissertation database.

Please advise.

Best,

Hugh

Thank you Kristine for your quick reply. Your comment is good enough for my purpose.

Best,
Hugh
