

DELAY OF PUBLICATION – EMBARGO EXTENSION REQUESTS

Publication of the dissertation is a University requirement. A copy of the dissertation is shelved immediately in the University Library and transmitted to ProQuest.

Beginning December 2015, Penn will require open access publication of dissertations in the institutional repository, ScholarlyCommons.

In cases where papers are in press, patents are pending, or where there are other intellectual property concerns, it may be beneficial for you to delay publication or “embargo” your dissertation. Students should discuss with their advisor whether such a delay is necessary or advisable.

- A three-year delay of publication in Proquest and Scholarly Commons is permitted automatically. Simply indicate that choice in Proquest ETD Administrator. No forms or permissions are required.
- A request for delay of an additional three years requires approval by the Graduate Group Chair.
- A request for an additional delay requires approval by the Graduate Dean.

Complete and submit the form attached to request an extension beyond the automatic 3-year delay available through ETD Administrator.

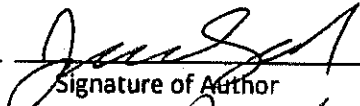

To avoid release of the work, approvals must be received one month in advance by the Graduate Division, which forwards the information to Proquest and Scholarly Commons.

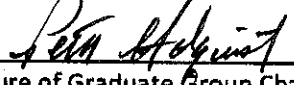

THESE REQUESTS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED BY THE GRADUATE DIVISION UNTIL 3 MONTHS PRIOR TO THE ORIGINAL EMBARGO EXPIRATION DATE.

.....
Request for First Extension of Embargo
(beyond the 3 years of "automatic" embargo)

AUTHOR'S NAME Justin Simard

TITLE OF DISSERTATION Legal Economy: Lawyers and the Development of American Commerce, 1780-1870

Justin Simard		8/2/2019	justin.simard@gmail.com
Print Name	Signature of Author	Date	Email

Peter Holquist		8/5/2019
Print Name	Signature of Graduate Group Chair	Date

Delay Publication until 7/28/2022